OUR STORY

Who We Are

Youth for Positive Change (YPC) is a youth initiative in Tanzania. It began as a small circle of community volunteers responding to a simple observation: talented, capable young people were being held back not by ability, but by access - to mentors, to skills training, to a first real chance.

Today we run structured mentorship, vocational and digital skills programs, and youth-led community service across several regions. Our work is built on one belief: lasting change is led by young people themselves, not delivered to them.

WHY WE EXIST

Our Purpose

Too many young Tanzanians have the talent but not the access. YPC exists to close that gap through three interconnected pillars that move beyond one-off events toward lasting change.

1

Mentor

Pairing young people with community role models to build confidence, decision-making and life plans.

2

Equip

Practical vocational and digital skills, from basic computing to entrepreneurship, aimed at local income.

3

Lead

Peer-led circles and service projects where young people plan and run their own initiatives.

Mission

To equip young Tanzanians aged 15–29 with mentorship, skills and leadership opportunities that open real paths to income, service and self-reliance.

Vision

A Tanzania where every young person has the access, support and confidence to shape their own future and their community's.

OUR PROGRAMS

What We Run

Four paths, one direction forward. Each program meets young people where they are and opens a door they can walk through on their own.

01

Mentorship & Life Skills

One-on-one and small-group mentorship pairing youth with community role models, covering confidence, decision-making and life planning.

02

Vocational & Digital Skills

Practical training in trades and digital tools, from basic computing to entrepreneurship, aimed at real, local income opportunities.

03

Community Service Corps

Youth-organized service projects such as clean-ups, tutoring and elder support that build community trust and leadership experience.

04

Youth Leadership Circles

Peer-led groups where young people plan and run their own initiatives, with foundation staff supporting rather than directing.

Year-round. All four programs run throughout the year across the communities we serve, with cohorts and availability varying by community.
